Art Unit: 3748

Applicant's amendment dated October 13, 2006, has been fully considered.

Applicant has amended the claims to include a new limitation "only 5-15%" and argued the applied reference does not teach the claimed invention. The Examiner agrees. However, a new ground of rejection has been made based on another reference already of record, US 5497624 (Amir et al).

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 21-24, 27-31, 34, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by US 5497624 (Amir et al).

Amir et al discloses a hybrid electric power generating system comprising a primary power converter (steam turbine 15 in figure 1A, or 60A in figure 2), the exhaust heat of the steam engine 15 is used to drive 3 different closed organic Rankine cycles through passages 19a, 19b, 19c, and valves 22a, 22b, 22c. Please note because the waste heat of the steam turbine 15 is less than the main heat source, the power produced by the three Rankine cycles must be less than the steam turbine.

Furthermore, in columns 2-4, Amir et al discloses specifically that the amount of exhaust steam to each Rankine cycle can be controlled. Therefore, the amount of power output of each Rankine cycles can be controlled, and it's clear that each Rankine cycle is capable of contributing only 5%-15% of the primary converter.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

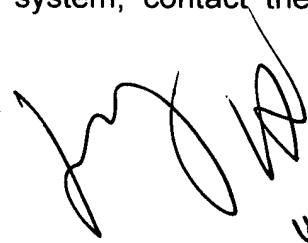

Claims 25-26, 32-33 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 103(a) as being unpatentable over U.S. 5497624 (Amir et al). Amir et al discloses all the claimed subject matter as set forth above, but does not disclose different types of first power plant. However, it would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to select different types of first power plant in Amir et al to provide waste heat to the second power plant for the purpose of achieving appropriate amount of heat. (note the Van Dine reference if Applicant needs specific teaching for the molten carbonate fuel cell).
